Make The Best of Your

The first half of 2016 was very busy for the WAG. Most significantly, the WAM closed its doors and relocated in Fairhaven. After many long hours and much support from its artists and family members, the WAM completely redesigned its look and celebrated its Grand Opening this past April. Since then, sales have increased each month, and WAG and WAM members alike have good reason to be proud of the Art Market as it becomes a major contender in the local art scene.

So far this year, the WAG has added a few venues and now has five sights for WAG artists to display their wares. Some artists sold their art during the Summer Exhibit at the Jansen Art Center; and even though we didn't hold either a spring or fall show this year, the WAG still honored its commitment to its two scholarship funds.

Summer has finally arrived and with it comes busy and hectic days with no routines or schedules to comply with. During this summer, remember to allow time for art. Here are a few ways to appease those creative urges while enjoying your summer.

If your plans include a visit to the beach, beachcombing is never out of style, or try etching out a sandcastle, or sand castle.

Escape from the family and share the day with a friend while you visit some of the many Art Fairs offered. My favorite is the Anacortes Arts Festival anacortesartsfestival.com which is held August 7-10.

Looking for something to do locally that won't hurt your wallet? Pack a lunch, grab your camera and take in some local parks. Big Rock Park on Alabama hill (Bellingham) has beautiful gardens and most times has free live music.

After summer, at the annual meeting in November, WAG will be holding elections for next year's Board positions and soliciting volunteers for the various committees. The primary objective for 2017 is to bring back our Spring and Fall Shows. We especially need to staff the Shows positions. If you're interested in working with the WAG Team, we will post a brief description of all positions in next month's newsletter.

As WAG membership continues to grow, I'd like to thank all WAG members for their continued support. I'm proud to be affiliated with such a fine group of talented artists.
Your President, Joyce Norfolk

Whatcom Art Market

Summer is good for us! We are seeing more customers and visitors and sales are reflecting it, increasing roughly $1,000 each month since April. The Steering Committee has been busy with many things, including developing a promotional program to keep customers coming in year-round.

Another neighborhood magazine is looking at publishing an article on WAM and the Fairhaven community is looking to us as a viable entity. We have been asked to participate with Fairhaven to market the art merchants. (We still need help with this request). We are becoming established!

August will see some shuffling with artists rotating out and three more joining us.

We continue tweaking things as with any business to keep running smoothly. Our lettering on the canopy and the bright yellow with red 'flag' out front seems to be helping people know we're there. Our artists are being asked to provide Certificates of Authenticity or Provenances with their work as some knowledgeable buyers are requesting them in order to cross the border. It's just another level of professionalism we are attempting to provide.

If you haven't been in yet, come on down. We love sharing the WAM and all things art with everyone.

Each month Guild members have a chance to enter their artwork in a mini competition at the General Meeting. Members vote for the top four pieces. Winners are designated Artists of the Month and their artwork is featured here and on the WAG website www.whatcomartguild.org/artistsOfTheMonth.html, and are exhibited at participating venues in the community.

Guild members may enter one piece. If it is a painting, it must be framed in a professional manner and ready to hang with a wire hanger (no sawtooth hangers). Photos will be taken at the meeting for the website and newsletter or you may provide your own digital image.
